

CAE Awards Another Contract For Liquid Crystal Displays To Luxell

TORONTO Oct 18, 2011 Luxell Technologies Inc. is pleased to announce CAE has awarded Luxell another contract for a suite of cockpit displays intended for AW139 helicopter full-flight simulators.

Luxell has already produced and delivered 3ATI displays for other CAE simulator applications.

Luxell Technologies has built significant experience in the helicopter domain through the development, production and on-going maintenance of numerous liquid crystal displays and TEFL displays for helicopters from North America, Europe and Japan.

"We are delighted to have CAE as an on-going customer and to be able to grow our involvement with their simulator product line. We recognize CAE's leadership in the simulator field and see their choice of Luxell as a display supplier as an important part of our own growth plans," declared Jean-Louis Larmor, Luxell's CEO.
